Thirty-First Week of Ordinary Time

Every priest, and indeed every Catholic, can sometimes find themselves in the position of someone asking “This religion of yours what’s it all about, really, when you come down to it? What’s the bottom line?”

Our temptation might be to start going on at length, which is when we should remember this Gospel. Jesus, asked a very similar question, pins our faith down to two very simple things love of God and love of neighbour which together make up the foundation for everything else in our religion. The very simplicity of these two commandments is a gift, so that we can try to live them out each day of our lives. The first commandment, which is also that given by Moses in the first reading, is actually a prayer that our Jewish brothers and sisters still recite every single day. Jesus, our perfect High Priest, gives us these two commandments to be written in our heads and our hearts, to remember each day, so that we may conduct ourselves in the paths of the Kingdom of God.

Marriage Matters

Remember our wedding vows: In the Old Testament, Moses said: “You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength.” In Mark’s gospel Jesus completes this commandment: “You must love your neighbour as yourself”. Your wife, your husband, is the nearest neighbour you have! This is what we promised each other on our wedding day.

Think Vocation

We can all think of priests or religious who have made a deep impression on us but have now died. November is the month the Church remembers the faithful departed. In remembering them we need to be grateful for the way we have been brought closer to our Lord Jesus by the example and inspiration of those who have now died.

Congratulatory: To Nicole Wixted and Naomi Wixted who were baptised at St John's's last Saturday. We pray that they and their family may continue to grow in faith.

Marjorie Greenhalgh RIP: After celebrating her 105th birthday last week, it is with sadness that we now have to let you know that Margorie died on Tuesday 30 October. Our prayers are with her family.

Thank you: My family and I would like to thank Fr David and all parishioners from the church community who attended the Requiem Mass for my mum, Julia Jolly, on Wednesday 17 October. Kathleen Robinson.

Adoration & Reconciliation: From the beginning of Advent, we will offer the Sacrament of Reconciliation and Adoration, every week, at 6.30pm on Tuesday evenings (before the 7pm Mass). This will continue on a permanent basis but will not affect the monthly Adoration & Reconciliation.

Urban Outreach

Dear Parishioners,

Once again, it's time for Urban Outreach to make up their Christmas Hampers for needy families.

Churches Together in Harwood have agreed to provide 600 boxes of After 8 Mints (that's 200 from each of the churches/parishes). As they need to be delivered to Urban Outreach on the 10th December, it has been decided to collect the boxes during November.

Once again, we depend on the generosity of Corpus Christi Parish, to provide 200 boxes of mints (regular sized boxes only as longer boxes will not fit in the hampers).

Thank you for your support & God Bless
Churches in Harwood

Baptism Preparation: Our next preparation session will take place on Saturday 10 November (10.30am-12noon) in the Harbour Room at St Brendan's. This is for parents from our parish who wish to have a child baptised in the coming months. Please contact the parish office if you will be attending by phone 01204 301927 or email office@sbsj.org.uk.

Volunteer Information Meeting
Sunday on Wednesday 28 November, 7.30-8.30pm at Cathedral Centre, 3 Ford St. Salford. M3 6DP.

Remembrance Prayer Trees

As you will notice we have a willow tree in each of our churches. During November, parishioners are invited to write a prayer/name of a loved one on a label and hang it on the tree. The labels can be found in the back of St Brendan's Church and the Patmos Room at St John's. The names of those on the trees will be offered up at Masses throughout the month.

Marriage Care Volunteers needed: Could it be you? 'The harvest is rich but the labourers are few' Broken relationships are extremely painful especially among family and friends. Marriage Care draws on the Catholic tradition and contemporary research to support couples, in good times and bad, throughout England and Wales. Based locally we help couples preparing for Marriage to build strong healthy fulfilling relationships and offer ongoing support through our Counselling Service. We are expanding our local team and need volunteers who share our passion to build happy homes. Could you spare a few hours a week, a month, a year? Current roles include Evening Receptionist, Team Assistant, Marriage Preparation Facilitator and/or Co-ordinator, Parish Liaison, Head of Centre and Trustee. Full training and support provided. No upper age limits. For more information about these and other roles, or to offer financial support visit us at: www.marriagecare.org.uk; email volunteer@marriagecare.org.uk or call Deirdre 07871 802336

Fair Trade Stall: The fair trade stall will be promoting the real advent calendar on the weekend of 10 & 11 of November. This is a chocolate advent calendar which emphasizes the Christian message. It is a fun way for parents, grandparents and Godparents to share the Christmas story 24-page story-activity book designed to be used every day in Advent.

Pastoral Letter from the Right Reverend John Arnold, Bishop of Salford

From the weekend of 27th/28th October 2018, the 30th Sunday of the year.

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

In Luke's Gospel we read "The harvest indeed is great but the labourers are few. Pray therefore the Lord of the harvest that he send labourers into His harvest" (Luke 10:2).

I firmly believe that God has a definite purpose for each one of us. Blessed John Henry Cardinal Newman was convinced that God has committed some work to each one of us that He has not committed to another. We can all say, in his words, "I have my mission". Discerning that mission, or vocation, God will call as many men to the priesthood as are needed, and men and women to religious life. We must do all that we can to ensure that those who are called are listening and we must also be sure that the priesthood and consecrated life to which they commit themselves are appropriate for the needs of today's Church, as envisaged by the Second Vatican Council. The Council was greatly concerned with that sense of mission and evangelisation that Pope Francis constantly emphasises in his letters and communications to the Church. As "missionary disciples" we are all invited to use our gifts in growing and strengthening our parish communities and taking our Faith out to the wider community in service of all, particularly the marginalised and the poor. With our pastoral programme Hope in the Future I believe that we are making good progress to develop and strengthen that sense of mission. Within that mission, the priest has a specific role.

Over the last four years I have resisted any use of the phrase "shortage of priests" in this Diocese because, compared with just about every country in the world, we have a good number of priests for what is, geographically, a small Diocese. But we are certainly seeing a reduction in the number of priests in pastoral ministry and this will continue as we see more priests retiring than those being ordained. In the last four years 24 priests have retired in this Diocese and seven have died in active ministry. Those thirty-one priests have been replaced by six newly ordained and the transfer of one priest into the Diocese. This imbalance is clearly estimated to continue in the next few years.

The essential role of the priest is to provide sacraments to a parish community in the celebration of the Eucharist, Reconciliation and the Anointing of the Sick. He is the lead pastor who, with the assistance of lay ministers, ensures that there is care for the sick and the elderly of the parish community, for all those in any particular spiritual need, and catechesis for the young and on-going Faith formation for the whole community. He is the spiritual father of the community with a ministry of prayer for the people and for preaching the Word of God.

Any man, young or not so young, may hear a call to priesthood in a great variety of ways. He may feel drawn to priesthood by the example of a priest that he knows. He may discern a call to priestly service through his reading, prayer, thinking, or work experience. He may also benefit from the idea being suggested to him by another. That was certainly an important factor in my own life when, as a young schoolboy, a priest made the suggestion to me that sowed a seed in my own thinking. It is important that we recognise that the vocation to the priesthood is not something that just happens to someone, somewhere else. It must come from within our parishes and schools and families and we need to nurture the conversation that allows for priestly vocation to be spoken about and encouraged.

I would like to challenge the young men in our parishes to ask themselves if it is possible that God is calling them to priesthood. Are there young men and women called to religious life? I would like to challenge everyone to consider if they know of men and women who they believe have the qualities for such service in the Church. Would they have the courage to suggest that to them? And I would ask that we all make a fresh commitment to pray for vocations: that those whom God may be calling may hear that call and respond, with our active encouragement.

Service as a priest does, in my own experience and in my knowledge of others, bring a great sense of fulfilment and happiness. It can be very demanding but it is packed with privileged moments of service to people in the most important moments of their lives. To join couples in marriage, to baptise new lives, to forgive in God's name are a gift and joy. To walk with others in their time of bereavement or illness is humbling. I am so very grateful for priests in my life who have been the presence of Christ to me by their kindness and encouragement. I am sure that many would share that sense of gratitude. The call to religious life also brings great fulfilment as men and women dedicate themselves to a particular quality of the Gospel, such as in teaching, nursing or care for the elderly - in the very deliberate sense of mission to others.

Thank you for your care for and appreciation of the priests and religious of this Diocese. As we continue to develop our sense of mission in parishes, schools and family life, let us be sure to remove tasks from our priests and religious that can be done by others so that they may attend to all that they are specifically ordained and consecrated to do. Let us ask in our daily prayer that the Lord will prompt and urge men and women to respond to His call so that, by their service, our Church may grow in its mission - making Christ ever more clearly present in our world.

Stay with us, Lord, on our journey

With my prayers and thanks for you, my brothers and sisters

+John Arnold, Bishop of Salford
