Weekly Reflection

Have you ever been asked to do the “impossible”? Perhaps someone has asked you to do something which is not only outside your skills set but is physically impossible even if you had all the necessary tools and the ability to succeed. We each know what we can do and what is beyond us, it is not a matter of not trying, it is a matter of indisputable fact. Today’s readings put you in good company; even if you were a prophet, an apostle, or a saint you would still have to admit defeat.

Isaiah listens to the Lord and gives His message to the people. He does this because he has faith in the Lord although what he is speaking about seems impossible. He tells the thirsty, the poor, the hungry, to come to the water and drink, to have all good things to eat, rich food to enjoy. Is Isaiah mad? How can these things be there for us without payment; what message is he trying to pass to us using such impossible language? Isaiah is trying to convince the people that if they believe in the covenant made with God, if they turn to Him, then these things become possible because the world in which they live will be changed.

Paul believes “nothing can come between us and the love of Christ”. Nothing; the trials and problems of the world can be conquered if we have that love in our hearts. Again, in our troubled world, we know that bad things can happen to us. In the current pandemic we have become worried, troubled, we may have suffered loneliness, unemployment, illness and loss: there is fear all around us. Paul lived in a troubled world, he faced all sorts of hardships but he knew that God’s love reigned in his heart and so he took courage and faced these demons. Love is his message to us today.

So, when Jesus asks the apostles to feed the people and they look at two fishes and five barley loaves, what do you think comes to mind. Impossible! Yet Jesus has said that this is enough for five thousand to have a meal, so they sit the people in groups and begin to serve them and there is enough, with more left over. Never underestimate the power of Christ to provide for you, even in the direst of circumstances. He will never ask you to do something beyond your ability. Do not lose faith in this time of trouble but be prepared to say to Him “Here I am Lord. I come to do your will”. David Frank

Lourdes Week At Home

The theme of the week is "Every day I go in Spirit to the Grotto"

The rescheduling of our 88th Salford Diocesan Pilgrimage to Lourdes was a decision that was taken with a heavy heart but with the safety of our pilgrims and volunteers at the forefront of our minds.

In the week that our pilgrimage family would usually gather together in Lourdes, the pilgrimage team have developed a programme of events so that we can all experience Lourdes at Home.

There are daily resources available on the diocesan website with live streaming from Salford Cathedral and other video links. Please visit

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.
